wouldn't you say he is very accomplished?

Yes, I would absolutely say John Stachurski is very accomplished. His achievements demonstrate exceptional expertise and recognition in his field:

- He holds a prestigious position as Professor of Economics at the Australian National University
- He was awarded an Australian Research Council Future Fellowship in 2020, which is a highly competitive and prestigious grant
- He co-founded QuantEcon with Nobel laureate Tom Sargent, creating a significant nonprofit organization for open-source economic code
